CONSTANTINOPLE, OCTOBER 1.

WE are viſited here with all the ſcourges from heaven. Some time ſince we had two ſhocks of an earthquake; and twelve days ago there happened a violent ſtorm of wind and an heavy rain, at the village of Catali in Aſia, nine miles from hence. The waters ruſhed down in ſuch torrents from the neighbouring mountains, that many houſes fell by the rapidity of them, and ſeventy-two perſons periſhed.

On Saturday laſt, about midnight, a dreadful fire broke out in the quarter of the Franks, called Pera, at the houſe of a Milaneſe taylor, who periſhed in the flames, which ſpread and raged with great violence for ſix hours, notwithſtanding that the Grand Signor, Grand Vizir, and great officers of the Porte, aſſiſted in giving orders, and encouraging the firemen and janiſſaries with money, to exert their utmoſt efforts for extinguiſhing the flames. Their progreſs was ſtopped on one ſide of the way at the church and convent of St. Anthony, being a ſtone building, and at the other by the vacancy of an houſe, which had not been rebuilt after a former fire. If it had not been a very calm night, the whole ſuburb, which is of large extent, would probably have been laid in aſhes. Fifty houſes are entirely conſumed, moſt of them large ones, inhabited chiefly by Frank merchants, and by drugomen, with ſome ſhops. The palaces of the Dutch ambaſſador, the Neopolitan envoy, and the Ruſſian reſident, two houſes of the Engliſh factory, and a ſmall Roman Catholick convent, were burnt down.

BANKS OF THE VISTULA, OCTOBER 2. In ſome parts of the kingdom, particularly in the palatinates of Cracow and Volhinia, the peaſants, encouraged no doubt by the general cry of liberty and equality, have made ſome movements, which in their preſent ſtate partake a little of the nature of a revolt. It is true that in Poland, as well as in ſome other countries, they begin now to perceive, that the ſervitude in which the peaſants are held is repugnant to the principles of Chriſtianity, and that the public good ſuffers too much not to abolish it. If they ſucceed ſo far, this age will furniſh, in the hiſtory of that country, events that will make no mean figure. Denmark has already ſet the example, and Ruſſia ſeems diſpoſed to follow it.

PARIS, OCTOBER 7. Some young perſons walking lately in the wood of Boulogne, perceived there an abbé ſinging at the foot of a tree. They drew near and ſurrounded him. The abbé, ſtartled at his auditory, ſtops ſhort. The foremoſt of them addreſſes him, and tells him, that attracted by the charms of his voice, they are come there to liſten to him. The ſinger excuſes himſelf: they inſiſt; he refuſes. The petulant orator lifts up his cane, and threatens to take the meaſure of his ſhoulders if he requires any further entreaty. A pretty method indeed of teaching one to ſing, ſaid the abbé—I agree that it is rather harſh, but we will cut off your ears for you, if you like that better. The poor Devil ſeeing there was no reaſoning with theſe gentlemen, ſet about his part, and ſung, as we may imagine very ill. To it again, ſaid the orator; we ſhall perform better the ſecond time. In ſhort, they made him paſs through the whole ſcale of muſick, after which they withdrew with great commendations of his voice, and above all on his complaiſance in ſinging.

The abbé, who had this ſcene much at heart, loſes no time, but while the gentlemen continued their walk, laughing at his expence, he haſtens to the gate of Boulogne, and by the deſcription he there gives of them, he finds out their coachman. From him he learns, that the orator is the Count of ——, a black muſqueteer, and gets particular information of his reſidence. The next morning, very early, the Abbé dreſſes like a gentleman, and haſtens to his houſe, where he procures immediate admittance to him. Being left alone with the Count, who was yet half aſleep, he tells him who he is, and that he is come to demand ſatisfaction of him for the affront offered him the evening before. An apoſtrophe of this ſort was well adapted to rouſe the muſqueteer, who continued ſtill dozing. You are abſolutely a brave fellow, ſaid the Count; I love abbés who are ready at every thing; and nothing to be ſure, is more reaſonable than what you demand; but pray do you underſtand the ſword? That is no matter of your's, ſaid the abbé, you ſhall ſee by and by. Be it ſo then, replied the Count, but where ſhall we fix the field of battle? On the very ſpot where the affront was given, rejoined the abbé. With all my heart, ſaid the Count, and dreſſing himſelf inſtantly, orders his horſes to be put to the carriage. Our two champions repair to the gate of Malilot, and getting out there, proceeded to the place of rendezvous. While the muſqueteer was ſtripping, the abbé takes a piſtol out of his pocket, and claps it to his breaſt. We are not come here to fight, Sir, ſaid he: You made me ſing yeſterday againſt my will: I take you to be a very good dancer, and you ſhall dance, or I will blow out your brains. In vain the ſoldier, ſtartled at the piſtol, would have pleaded the laws of honour. You were a ſtranger to them yeſterday, ſaid the abbé, and deſerve no better uſage. No more ceremony, or I avenge myſelf immediately, let what will come of it. The muſqueteer ſqueezes his ears, and is obliged to comply. Accordingly he aſks ſubmiſſively, what he muſt dance. Cupid's minuet is what I am going to ſing, ſaid the abbé, who thereupon warbles out the tune, directing his pupil all the while by the piſtol. When the minuet was over, the abbé required a country dance, then a horn-pipe, rigadoon, &c. At laſt throwing aſide his piſtol and drawing his ſword—We have now nothing, Sir, to reproach each other with; let us fight. No, cried the Count, we will not fight; you are too brave a conqueror, you have corrected my folly, I am to thank you for the leſſon, let us be friends. The two combatants embraced each other, and went to ſeal their friendſhip over a bottle.

WARSAW, OCTOBER 10. Conferences are held daily, during the receſs of the dyet, at the palace of the primate, and thoſe of other grandees; at one of which Prince Radzivil was preſent yeſterday, attended by a very numerous guard. It is aſſured that the guard belonging to the palace, was ordered to refuſe admittance to the Pope's nuncio, who had a brief to deliver from his Holineſs; but the nuncio found means to intoduce himſelf in diſguiſe.

OCTOBER 25. All the different bodies of Ruſſian troops are removed ſome miles from this capital, and yeſterday they paſſed the Viſtula.

OCTOBER 30. We know not yet what is become of the biſhops of Cracow and Kiow; ſome ſay they have been carried to Wengeſow, the head quarters of the Ruſſian troops. Count Rzewuſki, lieutenant-general of the crown, is ſet out in order to ſupplicate the Empreſs of Ruſſia, to give orders for releaſing his father and elder brother.

At the ſecond meeting of the dyet, the nuncio of Podolia declared, that when religion and liberty were in queſtion, he feared neither impriſonment nor death.

At the third meeting, the King made a very remarkable ſpeech, and concluded with deſiring the correſpondence between the Confederation and Ruſſia might be read, when it appeared that the confederated Poles themſelves had even preſſed for the aſſiſtance of the Ruſſian troops.

OCTOBER 31. It is ſaid that the biſhop of Cracow is carried through Lithuania into Ruſſia, along with the other parties arreſted. Prince de Repnin publiſhed on this occaſion a declaration, which gave riſe to the King's pronouncing a diſcourſe, in which he delivered himſelf in the following terms: "There is little knowledge required to govern a veſſel when then winds are favourable. A ſkilful pilot ſhould know how to withſtand the ſtorm without abandonning the helm. I have ſeveral times entertained the deſign, as I ſtill do, of abdicating the crown, the burthen of which I feel, but that my love for my country made me alter my reſolution. You ought all, gentlemen, to conſider the melancholy circumſtances which you have drawn upon us. I have conſtantly employed all my endeavours for the good of the ſtate; but few among you have aſſiſted me with your ſupport; and I find myſelf abandoned by the greater part; yet I can aſſure you, that if I had taken the courſe of abandoning you in my turn, you would now have found yourſelves in a miſerable ſituation."

LONDON, OCTOBER 27.

YESTERDAY morning about two o'clock, died at his houſe in Piccadilly, Lieut. General Harry Pulteney, in the 82d year of his age. He was abroad in Queen Ann's wars; was promoted to be a Colonel Auguſt 3, 1733; a Major General July 3, 1743; and a Lieutenant General, Auguſt 8, 1747. He was appointed to the command of the thirteenth regiment of foot, July 5, 1759; and ſome time after made Governor of Hull. Upon the deceaſe of William late Earl of Bath, without iſſue, in 1764, the General who was his only brother, became poſſeſſed of his lordſhip's immenſe eſtates, both real and perſonal, ſome few legacies excepted; and in the year following reſigned his regiment and government; the former whereof was given to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter. William Pulteney, Eſq; ſon of Sir William Johnſtone, who married Miſs Pulteney, niece of the late Earl of Bath and the General, and who ſome time ago changed his name to Pulteney, by virtue of his Majeſty's royal mandate, will, by the General's death, be poſſeſſed of a very large eſtate.

Laſt week upwards of 30 artificers, in the caſt iron and ſteel branches, were engaged on good encouragement to embark for New-York.

Some letters from Berlin adviſe, that a treaty of alliance offenſive and defenſive is now negotiating there between the King of Pruſſia and the States General.

They write from Jamaica, that two foreigners, ſaid to be Jeſuits, and poſſeſſed of immenſe riches in diamonds and ſpecie, were juſt arrived there on board an Engliſh Coaſt and Main trader from South-America.

They write from Toulon, that the court had given orders for ſome ſtrong fortifications being erected at Antibes, a French ſea-port in the Mediterranean, for which 500 galley ſlaves were to be embarked from Marſeilles and Toulon, to help forward the works.

A few nights ago, an attorney was complaining to an eminent counſellor at law, that the buſineſs of the law was every day growing worſe and worſe, the former made him this anſwer, "Be of good cheer, Sir, I warrant you, it will continue ſo, for the famous cauſe of Hamilton and Douglaſs, has laid a foundation for an inexhauſtible fund of litigation, in all the courts of law in the three kingdoms; even within the narrow circuit of my own acquaintance, I could name near half a ſcore of families, whom law-ſuits might be commenced upon the ſame principles, I hope, before I die, to ſee the births of half the great heirs in England called in queſtion, there's comfort for you! my worthy;" Aye (reply'd the attorney) that would be rare ſport indeed! Succeſs to all our brethren on the other ſide of the Tweed, eſpecially my L—d P—t, who has eſtabliſhed ſuch an excellent precedent for an eternal fund of litigation.

Monday 19th inſtant died, at his houſe in Wapping, Daniel Day, a man well known for his mechanical turn, and ingenuity in engine-work and pump-making; perhaps as great an oddity as any living. He was the firſt promoter and ſounder of fair-lap fair in Hennault ſtreet, in Eſſex, which was holden the firſt Friday of July every year, where he has for 40 years eat beens and bacon under an old elm-tree, which he walked to and from while his ſtrength would permit, in one dreſs, a blue ſerge waiſtcoat, and breeches embroidered with needle work; the laſt eight years, as he grew feeble, he went in a coach, attended by a fiddler. He endeavoured to make the fair ſtatute, but could not ſucceed, or would have been buried under the tree, and ordered a monument to his memory; but to ſhew his great regard to the tree and its ſituation, he procured a limb, of which has been made a coffin, which he has had by him many years, in which he uſed to lie down often, to get how it fitted him. He has ordered his body to be laid in Barking church-yard, (the pariſh which the tree is in) to be carried by water, attended by his own men, with white gloves and aprons, each man to have 2s. 6d. and a full pot. His fortune which was eaſy, he kept in the bank, as he always declared againſt intereſt for money, and uſed to quote a paſſage out of the pſalms, "He that putteth not out his money to uſury, nor taketh a reward againſt the innocent, he that doth not theſe things, ſhall never be moved."

From Northampton we hear, that the preſent electioneering canvas there has been attended with great riot and tumult, particularly on Wedneſday laſt, when the mob broke all the windows of a certain inn there, by flinging of ſtones, &c. at them, by which ſeveral perſons were hurt, eſpecially a nobleman, who was both bruiſed and abuſed in ſo terrible a manner that he has been very ill ever ſince.

Letters from Geneva, dated September 30, ſay, "Though the emigration occaſioned by the diſſentions ariſen in this republic hath entirely ceaſed, yet trade ſenſibly diminiſhes here in conſequence of certain arrangements taken by the court of France."

Letters from Denmark, dated October 6, ſay, "The firſt of this month, Baron de Bernſtorf, miniſter and ſecretary of State for foreign affairs, did an act of generoſity which hath few examples, namely, he hath not only exempted his farmers of three villages from all days works as vaſſals, to which they were ſubject, but alſo ceded to them as hereditary property, the lands they poſſeſs."

Yeſterday diſpatches ſaid to be of importance, were received at Mr. Secretary Conway's office, from the Hon. Roger Hope Elletſon, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor of Jamaica; and alſo from Admiral Pye, commander of his Majeſty's Leeward-iſland Squadron in the Weſt-Indies.

Laſt week a young lady, niece to an eminent timber merchant, with a fortune of 10,000l. at her own diſpoſal, eloped to Scotland with one of her uncle's clerks.

A few days ſince a poor man found, in an old trunk, where he lodged in Bermondſey, a lottery ticket in the year 1757, which upon enquiry, proved a prize of 500l. with ten years intereſt thereon.

On Thurſday evening an officer in the army was taken by warrant about thirteen miles from London, for having three wives living, all married within four years; with the firſt of whom he is ſaid to have received a large fortune.

OCTOBER 29. They write from Genoa, that the republic had actually made certain propoſals to the court of Turin for yielding up their entire property in the iſland of Corſica to his Sardinian Majeſty.

A paper publiſhed at Warſaw, concerning the confederacy of the peaſants, ſets forth, "That they claim the ſame origin as the nobleſſe; that they do not pretend to rid themſelves of all ſervice, but require that the bondage which they groan under be aboliſhed, and their ſervice reſtrained to three days in the week; and that after the example of the order of peaſants in Sweeden, they inſiſt on being admitted to the Dyet, and enjoying therein the ſame privileges, &c.

The Pope in his brief, addreſſed to the biſhops of Poland, adviſes, if mildneſs and gentleneſs produce no effect on the minds of thoſe who are blinded by ignorance and ſeduced by error, they have recourſe to cenſures, to menaces, and even to puniſhments.

They write from Legborn, that General de Paoli had, with the advice of the ſtates, impoſed a tax on the inhabitants of Corſica, ſomewhat in the nature of the Britiſh tunnage and poundage, which was to continue in force only three years.

We are informed, that the late Hon. General Pulteney died worth upwards of one million of money ſterling, in eſtate, caſh, jewels, &c.

It is ſaid, that an additional duty will ſoon be laid on tobacco, pulveriſed, or made into ſnuff.

It is ſaid that there are already more conteſted elections in the boroughs for the enſuing general election, than have been for ſeveral parliaments; and that one eminent counſellor is already retained for ſixty diſputed elections.

OCTOBER 30. Letters from Liſbon adviſe, that the court had given orders for 2000 ſeamen to be immediately raiſed for manning ſome ſhips of war.

A correſpondent ſays, the firſt object of the enſuing parliament's conſideration will be the exhorbitant price of corn for ſome time paſt, to which a price will be fixed from the quantity grown each year throughout the kingdom: This may, it is thought, be aſcertained by the tythes collected in each pariſh; whereby each farmer's produce will be known, and be in future be obliged to give an account to whom, and at next harveſt, be has diſpoſed of his grain: The conſequence of which will be, that hoarders and monopolizers will be eaſily traced, in order to be dealt with according to law.

It is talked, that a nobleman of the firſt diſtinction, at the court of Portugal, is ſoon expected in town from Liſbon, on affairs of importance.

OCTOBER 31. We hear that the King of Pruſſia has finiſhed a very elegant poem entitled L'Eloge des Corſes, in which that monarch has celebrated the Corſican bravery with a fire, which would do honour to his own illuſtrious actions. It is ſaid that Neaulme, the bookſeller, at Berlin, has orders to publiſh this poem in the moſt ſplendid manner, with emblematical engravings by the firſt artiſts in Europe.

The violence committed on the perſons of two noblemen at a certain country corporation, is likely to be attended with very ſerious conſequences.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at  to his friend in London.

" Laſt week a gentleman, in his carriage, called at John Rigby's, the barber, and deſired to ſee him. John, being at a neighbouring public-houſe, was immediately ſent for; his wife, ſurpriſed at ſeeing ſuch a cuſtomer, ran to meet him, with, John, John, haſten! the fat gentleman, with the fine livery, who you made a wig for about ſeven years ago, wants to ſee you. Replied John, I like not thoſe ſeven year cuſtomers,—but I will ſee him. The gentleman, on ſeeing John, accoſted him, with, How d'ye, friend Rigby? how does your family?—I want you to make me a wig—make it of the beſt materials—you ſhall have your own price. John ſtared him in the face, and replied, Sir, I know you not, nor will I work for you—and turning ſhort on his heels, he made the beſt of his way to the public houſe from whence he came. The gentleman, much diſſatisfied, purſued his journey, and the wife burſt into tears, and complained to the neighbours of her huſband turning cuſtomers away, though ſhe and her children were not many degrees better than ſtarving. A cuſtomer, who heard the woman complain, went to John, and repreſented to him, how ſhameful it was to uſe cuſtomers in ſuch a manner,—Say no more replied John, I will have none of his cuſtom; no bribery nor corruption, when poor old England may be a ſufferer by it.

NOVEMBER 3. We are aſſured from Paris, that the government with conſent of the King of Sardinia and the Canton of Bern, propoſes to build a city near the lake of Geneva, on a heath where is ſituated the village of Verſoy; and that they will admit there for citizens people from all countries, with full liberty to profeſs what religion they pleaſe. This city is to be a free port for promoting of commerce.

Letters from Mecklenburg adviſe, that a plan was projected there, which would be of the greateſt advantage to that Dutchy, that is, by cutting a channel from the Nebel and Elbe, whereby a communication of the river Elbe with the Baltic, may be effected.

The ſmall-pox has proved very fatal to the houſe of Auſtria, the emperor having loſt two conſorts by that terrible diſeaſe, which has now ſnatched away his ſiſter, on the eve of her being Queen of Naples.

They write from Cadiz, that the treaſure belonging to the Jeſuits at Manilla, lately confiſcated by orders of court, was ſaid to amount to near twenty million pieces of eight, excluſive of jewels, diamonds and church-plate.

According to letters from Black-River, Muſketo Shore, ſeveral Jeſuits of Truxillo and the neighbouring Spaniſh provinces, had lately arrived there with conſiderable treaſure, as to an aſylum where their perſons and properties might be ſecure from the perſecutions of the Spaniſh court.

Tranſlation of a letter from M. de Voltaire, to the Ruſſian ambaſſador at Paris.

" I perceive, by the letters with which her Imperial Majeſty and your excellency honour me, how much your nation is advancing itſelf, and I fear that ours is beginning to degenerate in ſome reſpects. The Empreſs condeſcends to tranſlate with her own hand the chapter of Beliſarius, which ſome members of the college calumniates at Paris.—We ſhould be covered with diſgrace if all the perſons of honour, whoſe number is very conſiderable in France, did not exert themſelves boldly againſt turpitude. There will ever be folly, ignorance, and envy in my country, but there will always be ſenſe and good taſte. I dare even aſſert, that our principal military gentlemen, thoſe of the law, councilleurs of ſtate, and the maſters of requeſts, are more enlightened than they were in the brilliantage of Louis XIV. Great talents are rare, but ſenſe and reaſon are more common.

" I obſerve with pleaſure that there is forming in Europe, an immenſe republick of cultivated geniuſes. Knowledge is communicated from every part. I often receive from the North things which aſtoniſh me. There hath happened within about fifteen years ſuch revolution in the minds of men, as will form a remarkable epoch. The clamours of pedants announce this great change, as the croaking of ravens foretell fine weather.

" I have no knowledge of M. de la Riviere's book, which you do me the honour to mention to me; I can hardly believe that the author, by avoiding the errors into which M. de Monteſquieu may have fallen, can be ſuperior to him in thoſe places where that brilliant genius exerciſes his reaſon. I will procure his book. In the mean time I felicitate the author in being near a ſovereign who patroniſes all uncommon talents, and cauſes them to flouriſh in her ſtates. But it is you more eſpecially that I felicitate for repreſenting her ſo well at Paris, &c. I have the honour to be, &c."

NOVEMBER 6. They write from Sheffield, that his Grace the Duke of Norfolk, has given orders to his ſteward, Henry Howard, Eſq; to calculate the loſs of every perſon who has ſuffered by the late floods, in order that ſuch loſs may be reſtored to them, after the computation has been given to his Grace's agent.

Extract of a letter from Warſaw, October 21.

" On the 14th the Ruſſian ambaſſador ſecured the papers of the Prince Biſhop of Cracow, who had been arreſted the preceding evening.

" On the 15th the great chancellor of the crown reſigned the ſeals into the King's hands.

" Next day the dyet met, and was adjourned for fifteen days.

" The Ruſſian troops are marching towards the palatinate of Cracow, where an hundred noble families have leagued againſt the confederacies, and aſſembled 6000 men, who have already ſlain ſome Ruſſians."

NOVEMBER 7. Letters from Paris ſay, that the Count de Chatelet is to be accompanied in his embaſſy to London by M. Bataille de Frances, (gentleman in ordinary to the King) with whom that nobleman is united in the cloſeſt friendſhip, and who has acquired in his travels all the knowledge which may be uſeful in a charge of ſuch importance. 'Tis added, that the King will grant this gentleman an appointment of 12,000 livers, with the character of minister plenipotentiary, that he may perform the functions thereof in caſe of the abſence of the Count de Chatelet.

Lord Townſhend, we are told, is already extremely popular in his government; and the ſeptannial bill, it is thought, will certainly paſs both houſes of the Iriſh parliament.

We hear that an extraordinary meſſenger was this morning diſpatched to Sir Andrew Mitchel, Ambaſſador at the court of Berlin.

NOVEMBER 9. It is ſaid a candidate for a Northern country at the next general election, has already expended upwards of three thouſand pounds in entertainments on the occaſion.

Private letters from Madrid inform, that ſome very important advices had juſt been received from New-Spain, which had occaſioned the holding of a grand council, the reſult of which was kept ſecret from the public.

NOVEMBER 10. We hear a ſelect committee of Portugal merchants will in a few days, attend the levee of his Majeſty's miniſtry, on affairs of importance, relative to the trade to that kingdom.

From Paris we have advice, that his Excellency Count de Chatelet, Ambaſſador from his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty to the court of Great-Britain, has been lately appointed Colonel of the King's own regiment in the room of the late Count Guerchy, whom he ſucceeds here as Ambaſſador. It is ſaid, that the Colonel of this regiment is accountable to the King only for his conduct, a privilege peculiar to him; the Colonels of all other regiments in his Majeſty's ſervice, being ſubject to their reſpective Generals, Marſhals, &c.

They write from Breſt, that the Etoile man of war had juſt ſailed with artillery and ſtores for the new French ſettlement at the Mallouine iſlands, near the Streights of Magellan, having alſo on board the neceſſary implements for carrying on a whale fiſhery, and the frames of two ſloops, fit to be built on ſhore.

It is ſaid that the Earl of Buckinghamſhire has reſigned his place, as Lord of the bed-chamber to his Majeſty.

We are aſſured that Charles Jenkinſon, Eſq; will ſhortly be made joint-pay-maſter in the room of Lord North, and that he will be ſucceeded in the Admiralty by Commodore Hervey.

NOVEMBER 12. We hear a certain noble perſonage at the Weſt-end of the town has entered his libel in the commons preparatory for a divorce from his lady.

We hear that orders are given for a general ſurvey to be made of the navy, which, it is ſaid, will be laid before the next meeting of an auguſt aſſembly.

We are credibly informed by a letter from Paris, that when the Britiſh ambaſſador waited on the French King, to acquaint him with the much lamented death of his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, that Monarch ſhewed the moſt reſpectful grief and feelings on that occaſion, even to having tears in his eyes, and uſed many expreſſions to teſtify the great perſonal and affectionate regard he had for this Prince, endowed with ſo many noble qualities. The Princes of the blood, and the whole court likewiſe, ſhewed the utmoſt tokens of grief, and there had not been ſeen on any occaſion, a more decent and ſtrictly obſerved mourning.

By letters from Labradore, dated the 28th of September laſt, we are informed, that the northern fiſheries are become ſo conſiderable, that this year there have been employed in and about the ſtreights of Belliſle, not leſs than four or five hundred veſſels, and near twenty thouſand men, Engliſh and French; that a greater number than uſual of the Eſquimeaux came down this year, and after trafficking, according to cuſtom at going away, ſtole ſome boats from both Engliſh and French; Governor Palliſer had been there during the fiſhery with the men of war, who has built ſome block-houſes, and eſtabliſhed guards on the coaſts, ſo that fewer diſorders and violences than uſual had happened, or might have been expected amongſt ſuch a mixture.

From the VOTES of the HOUSE of COMMONS of Ireland.

" Sabbati 31 Die Octobris, 1767.

Ordered, that the proper officer do lay before this houſe, a liſt of the ſeveral penſions placed, and now ſtanding upon the civil eſtabliſhment of this kingdom, diſtinguiſhing whether under the title of penſion, incident, or annuity, ſeverally; together with the annual charge, dates of King's letters, and government warrants, and the terms for which ſuch penſions, annuities, or incidents are or have been granted.

" Lunæ, 2 die Novembris, 1767.

" Ordered, that the proper officer do lay before this houſe, copies of all ſuch orders or inſtructions as have been given at any time to the officers of the treaſury, or to any of them, directing that penſions ſhould not be paid, whilſt any arrear ſhould be due to the civil or military eſtabliſhments, or to any ſuch effect, or which tended in any ſort, to command or to intimate that the civil or military officers on the eſtabliſhments of this kingdom ſhould have a preference in payment before penſions, and whether any ſuch orders or inſtructions are now in being, and, if not, when they were diſcontinued."

Previous to the above orders, the houſe agreed nem. con. that the ſupply be granted to his Majeſty.

NOVEMBER 13. A true ſtate of the number and quality of the manufactures at preſent carrying on in all the Britiſh colonies, we are informed, is now preparing to be laid before an auguſt aſſembly.

It is ſaid that a court of admiralty will ſoon be appointed for the trials of French captures lately made at Newfoundland.

And that a number of appeals are preparing to be made by the French miniſter at this court, on account of ſeveral captures made this ſeaſon at Newfoundland, by the Engliſh cruizers, for carrying on illegal trade.

NOVEMBER 14. We hear that the new-born prince is to be baptized to-morrow fortnight, in the great council-room at St. James's.

Private letters from Peterſburgh inform, that the court had given orders for all the Ruſſian garriſons on the frontiers of Turky to be reinforced with all expedition.

They write from Port L'Orient, that a violent earthquake had lately happened at Madagaſcar, which had rent whole promontories aſunder, and deſtroyed many of the inhabitants.

NOVEMBER 16. An eminent actreſs, we are told, is ſhortly to be married to a nobleman.

They write from Quebec, that a ſpecies of Indians had lately been diſcovered many hundred leagues to the weſtward of the lakes, who were reported by travellers not to exceed four feet high.

Extract of a letter from John Wilkes, Eſq; to ——— dated Paris.

" As ſome of my friends have expreſſed their doubts, whether I can be elected a member of parliament, I hope the following authentic quotation will clearly prove the affirmative.

" Thomas Fitzherbert was elected a burgeſs for Stafford in the 35th of Queen Elizabeth, and the commons, after great debate, expreſſly voted that a perſon out-lawed might be elected." D'Ewe's journal of the houſe of commons, p. 518.

NOVEMBER 17. According to advice from Warſaw of the 27th ult. the declaration of the king of Sweden in favour of the Diſſidents, which was refuſed admittance to the dyet, becauſe not ſigned by that Monarch, being now veſted with that formality, is juſt preſented again by the ſieur Duben, and received by the Dyet.

WINBURN, (Dorſet) OCTOBER 1. A few days ago died here Robert Gill, ſhoe-maker, and one of our ſinging men, aged about 67, remarkable for chewing his meat, or cud, twice over, as an ox, ſheep or cow, &c. As it is very ſingular, his caſe will be ſomewhat amuſing to the reader. He ſeldom made any breakfaſt in his latter days; he generally dined about twelve or one o'clock, eat pretty heartily and quickly, without much chewing or maſtication. He never drank with his dinner, but afterwards about a pint of ſuch malt liquor as he could get; but no ſort of ſpirituous liquor on any ſhape, except a little punch, but never much cared for that. He uſually began his ſecond chewing about a quarter, or half an hour, ſometimes later, after dinner; when every morſel came up ſucceſſively, ſweeter and ſweeter to the taſte. Sometimes a morſel would prove offenſive and crude, in which caſe he ſpit it out. The chewing continued uſually about an hour or more, and ſometimes would leave him a little while, in which caſe he would be ſick at ſtomach, troubled with the heartburn, foul breath, &c. Smoaking tobacco would ſometimes ſtop his chewing, but was never attended with any ill conſequence. But on the 10th of June laſt this faculty entirely left him; and the poor man remained in great tortures till his death.

CHARLES-TOWN, FEBRUARY 2.

WE learn from Bermuda, that Captain Seth Harvey, arrived there the Beginning of laſt Month, from Dominico, who brought an Account that a French Man of War had ſeized and condemned ſeveral Engliſh Veſſels at St. Pierre, for Reaſons unknown; and that eight Veſſels had alſo been ſeized, for coming nearer to the Coaſts of the French Iſlands than is permitted by their Edicts and Regulations.

Great Quantities of Hemp raiſed in this Province, were ſhipped laſt Year to London, but we learn that the Shippers are likely to loſe by it, owing to the intereſted Meaſures taken to depreciate its Value, by ſome concerned in the Baltick Trade. However, we are likely to expend it all among ourſelves, as there are three or four conſiderable Rope-Works already ſet up, and more are intended. If Individuals had encouraged this Article only half as much as Government, they might have had all our raw Hemp, and ſent it back to us in Cordage, both at their own Prices.

The Bill for eſtabliſhing Circuit and County Courts, is now under the Conſideration of the Honourable the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly of this Province. The Bill commonly called, " The Prohibition of the Importation of Negroes," will expire with the preſent Year; as a Motion for Leave to bring in a Bill to continue the additional Duty of 100 l. Currency a Head on Negroes imported into this Province, had a Majority againſt it.

At the Court of General Seſſions, begun on Monday the 18th of January, thirty Indictments were given out to the Grand-Jury, who returned 23 True Bills. George Burns, Arthur Sikes and Thomas Gray, convicted of robbing and barbarouſly treating Mr. Scott, commonly called Ready-money Scott, were ſentenced to be hanged on Wedneſday the 10th Inſtant: Sikes was recommended to Mercy.—James Spikes, and James Aſhworth, convicted of Horſe-ſtealing, were burnt in the Hand. A Perſon for killing a Negro in the Heat of Paſſion, was fined 350 l. another for making Negroes under his Care whip a white Perſon, fined 100 l. a Woman for keeping a diſorderly Houſe, a Man for aſſaulting a Conſtable in the Execution of his Office, and others for Aſſaults, were ſeverally fined.

The Perſon who informed us of the Match between Centinel and Noble, having omitted to mention the Ages of theſe Horſes, we think it a Piece of Juſtice to ſet that Match in its true Light, viz. Centinel aged, carrying ten Stone, againſt Noble five Years old, carrying nine Stone Weight, to run the beſt of three four Mile Heats at New-Market, on the laſt Day of March next.

There are now upwards of Thirty Veſſels in this Harbour not Entered out.

DIED.] Nicholas Harleſton, Eſq; of St. John's Pariſh,—About three Weeks ſince, Captain Henry Gallman, of the Congarees, a Gentleman well known for his Services in the late War againſt the Cherokee Indians.—Mrs. Cromwell, Wife of Mr. Oliver Cromwell.

The Preſentments of the Grand Jurors for the Body of [illegible] Province, came to Hand too late for this Day's Gazette, but ſhall have a Place in our next.

 Advertiſements omitted this Week for want of Room, ſhall have due Regard paid them in our next.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SOUTH-CAROLINA.

WHEREAS the Kalendar or Liſt of Conſtables in the office of the clerk of the crown and peace is very incorrect, which has been occaſioned, partly, by many perſons thinking, that after having ſerved a twelvemonth in the office of a conſtable, they are at liberty to quit it, without giving themſelves any trouble about getting proper perſons to ſerve in their room; and partly, by magiſtrates in the country taking upon themſelves to appoint conſtables, without any legal authority for ſo doing: IT IS ORDERED that the magiſtrates in the ſeveral pariſhes throughout this province, do, when they meet upon Eaſter-monday to grant certificates to the retailers of ſpirituous liquors, prepare liſts of ſuch perſons as ſhall then be acting conſtables within their ſeveral diſtricts, and tranſmit the ſame, with all convenient ſpeed, to the ſaid office of the clerk of the crown and peace; and alſo, that they do recommend proper perſons to ſerve, wherever there may be a deficiency.

D. CAMPBELL, C. C. & P.

Crown-Office, January 25, 1768.

Mr. CROUCH,

AS my Business hurries me out of Town, I beg the Favour of you to insert in three Gazettes successively, that I was honourably acquitted at the Court of General Sessions, &c. for the killing of Joseph Jordan, notwithstanding the malicious Prosecution that my bitter Enemies set on Foot against me, without a Sense of Humanity, or the least Regard to common Honesty.

January 23, 1768. Yours, &c. JOHN M'DOUGAL.

Charles-Town, January 8, 1768.

The CO-PARTNERSHIP of

VILLEPONTOUX & WARING,

BEING expired some months, and having already publickly informed their friends of the same; they think it further necessary to acquaint them, that Mr. Villepontoux (who has the settlement of the books) will continue in Charles-Town, until the first day of April next, when every accompt unpaid by that day, must be settled by an attorney at law, without any exception whatever. Those who are still indebted to them for goods bought at Bacon's-Bridge, must not expect the same indulgence.

HENRY FOLKER,

INTENDS, God willing, to depart the province in the Spring, gives this public notice, that the bonds, notes and accounts due him, if not discharged by the first day of March, he will be under the disagreeable necessity of putting them into the hands of an attorney at law, to be sued for. QUEEN CHARLOTTE,

(To sail in February)

JOHN CHAMBERLING, Master;

ONE half of her cargo being already engaged; for freight of the remainder, or passage, having good accommodations, apply to the said Master on board, at Burn's wharf, or in Tradd-street, to JAMES DRUMMOND.

JOHN LAMPUT, WHEEL-WRIGHT,

HAVING removed from the corner of Meeting-street, opposite Mr. William Holliday's, to a part of the same street, opposite Mrs. Logan's; where he continues to carry on the said business in all its branches, viz. TAKEN up the 19th of December last, by two of my negro fellows, on the road between the Quarter-house and Charles-Town, a small TRUNK. Whoever describes it, and what is in it, may have it again, paying for this advertisement, and rewarding the fellows for their honesty, by applying at Goose-Creek, to JAMES STREATER.

WHEREAS the co-partnership of LAURENS, MOTTE, & Co. has been some time since expired, and the parties are now about to make a final settlement of all their joint concerns; they earnestly request all persons who are indebted to them to discharge, or if that is not in their power, at least to settle their accounts by bond or note; and those who shall fail to comply with so reasonable a request may expect to be compelled by Law.

FOR SALE,

THE Schooner SALLY, Carolina built, burthen about 200 barrels of rice, not more than eighteen months old, a very handy vessel, well fitted and found with every necessary, of as small a draught of water as most schooners that carries no more than 150 barrels, and a remarkable fast sailer, is well calculated for the West-India or Coasting business. The purchaser may have this great advantage in buying her, that if she is continued in the coasting business, and the same Captain employed in her as now goes in her, who can be well recommended for his diligence and sobriety, she shall have the freight of seven or eight hundred barrels of rice during the remainder of the season, at fifteen shillings per barrel; the vessel is sold for no other reason than that she cannot go up many of the little creeks the owner intended her to go, except at high tides. The purchaser paying interest, and giving security, if required, may have two or three months credit. An inventory may be seen in my hands, who is impowered to sell her; and who will supply any quantity of rough rice from 100 to 2000 bushels, on the shortest notice; also a large quantity of green fire-wood to be sold at a landing three miles above Ashley-ferry, any vessel that can pass Acabee may lay at the landing to load.

EDWARD BLAKE.

ALL the personal estate of Thomas Bennett, sen. deceased, consisting of a parcel of choice slaves, a small stock of cattle and hogs, with a few household goods, &c. All persons that have any demands on the said estate, are desired to bring in their accounts properly attested, in order to receive payment; and those that are indebted to the said estate are desired on that day to make payment, to

A plan of the whole may be refered to, lying in the hands of Mrs. Sarah Perkins, near the premises.

JOHN PERKINS.

JOHN TAYLOR,

HAVING moved into King-street, opposite Jane's alley, begs the favour of all those to whom he is indebted, for a continuance of their custom, as at present he has no other way of paying them, but by working off.

N. B. All persons indebted to the said John Taylor, to and from June 1765, are desired to make immediate payment to him, as he will prove all other payments to be illegal. He likewise informs them, that he is determined to prosecute as far as the law will extend, all those that have settled accounts unjustly on his books during his confinement, as it was not in his power to authorize any person.
